NEW SAUCE.
THE TAUNTON SAUCE.—This choice and delicious condiment, in addition to other merits, lays claim to that of complete originality; nothing similar to it having hitherto been brought before the public. All who have used it are unanimous and loud in its praise. To Fish, Soups, Game, Steaks, Curries, and cold meats, it imparts a singular relish: and the inventress (a lady of great experience, under whose hands the Sauce is prepared) pledges herself that the ingredients of which it is composed, unlike those of most sauces, comprise nothing but what is stimulative of digestion, and rather beneficial than injurious to the stomach. A trial of this Sauce is respectfully solicited, in the full confidence that if this be accorded to it subsequent patronage will be ensured.

Wholesale Agent, Messrs. Batty and Co. Finsbury-pavement, Finsbury-square. It may be had by retail of Messrs. Fortnum and Mason, Piccadilly; Mr. Hickson, 72, Welbeck-street, Oxford-street; Mr. Taylor, Regent-street; Mr. Day, Gracechurch-street; and by order of all respectable grocers and oilmen throughout the country.

"The 'Light of Nature' is a work which, after much consideration, I think myself authorized to call the most original and profound that has ever appeared on moral philosophy." —Sir James Mackintosh.

VINCENT'S (DEAN) History of the Commerce, Navigation, and Discoveries of the Ancients in the Indian Ocean, 2 vols. 4to. cloth, 18s.

"Travellers to the East, since the appearance of this work, have suo vice concurred in bestowing the most unqualified praise on its singular accuracy, and the valuable information which it contains. Malte-Brun speaks in the highest terms of it." —Rees's Cyclopaedia.

WADE'S BRITISH HISTORY, Chronologically arranged, comprehending a Classified Analysis of Events and Occurrences in Church and State, and of the Constitutional, Political, Commercial, Intellectual, and Social Progress of the Kingdom, from the first Invasion of the Romans to the Accession of Queen Victoria, with a general Index, in one very thick volume, 8vo. (1614 pages) cloth, bds. 14s. 6d. (pub. at 1l. 12s.)

An indispensable assistant to the student of British History.

WARD'S (Rev. W.) VIEW of the HISTORY, LITERATURE, and MYTHOLOGY of the HINDOOS, including a minute Description of their Manners and Customs, and Translations from their principal Works new and improved edition, 3 vols. 8vo. extra cloth bds. scarce, 18s.

WHITWICK'S (G.) PALACE of ARCHITECTURE, a Romance of Art and History, designed as a Popular Introduction to the Knowledge of Architecture in all its varieties, Classical, Oriental, Medieval, and Modern, illustrated by 211 engraved examples, the steel plates by Le Keux, the woodcuts by Brooke, in 1 splendid vol. imp. 8vo. bound in cloth, richly gilt, with architectural designs, 18s. (pub. at 3l. 13s. 6d.)

WITHERING'S (Dr. W.) ARRANGEMENT of BRITISH PLANTS, according to the latest improvements of the Linnean System, with an easy Introduction to the study of Botany; seventh edition, with additions by W. Withering, 35 plates, beat edition, 4 vols. 8vo. cloth, bds. 16s. (pub. at 2l. 2s.)

WOOD'S ARCHITECTURAL ANTIQUITIES and RUINS of PAL-MYRA and BALBEC, 2 vols. in 1, imperial folio, containing 110 fine copper-plate engravings, some very large and folding, half-bound morocco, uncut, 2l. 15s. (pub. at 7l. 7s.)

One of the most splendid works ever published, and its accuracy is equal to its beauty. Succeeding travellers are all indebted, more or less, to Wood's delineations and descriptions; Burckhardt, in particular, in his Travels in Syria, says that Wood's work renders any other description of Balbec unnecessary.

WRIGHT'S HISTORY and TOPOGRAPHY of the COUNTY of ESSEX, comprising its Ancient and Modern History, a general View of its Physical Character, Productions, Agricultural Condition, Statistics, &c. 2 stout vols. 4to. handsomely printed with large map and 100 beautiful engravings after Bartlett, extra cloth, 1l. 10s. (pub. at 4l. 4s.)

THE SOLICITORS' and GENERAL LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY.

(Registered Provisionally.)

Capital 1,000,000*l.* in 20,000 Shares of 50*s.* each.

Deposit (in compliance with the provisions of the statute 7 & 8 Vict c. 10, under which the Company is provisionally registered) 5*s.* per Share.

PRELIMINARY PROSPECTUS.

It is certain that most of the Life Insurances in the United Kingdom are effected through the medium of the Solicitors. But the Solicitors receive only a very small proportion of the great profits they bring to the Insurance Companies—a trifling Commission being all that is allowed to them.

A plan has been matured and approved by the members of the Profession for securing to the Profession by whom the business is obtained a portion of the profits of that business, and at the same time for offering to their clients and the public all the security and advantages of an Office conducted upon the most liberal, but safe, principles which experience has proved to be practicable.

The plan is this:—

The Assured to have the Security of a Capital of 500,000*l.* in 10,000 shares of 50*s.* of which, however, not more than 5*s.* per share will be required to be paid up, probably not above 2l. 10*s.*; deposit 5*s.* per share. On the Capital advanced the Shareholders are to receive Interest at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum, certain, and, in addition to this, an equal share with Solicitors bringing the business of the remaining profits (after deduction of 10 per cent. therefrom, to be applied to the Widows' and Orphans' Fund afterwards mentioned). Provision will be made for paying off the shares at a plus value that it may be deemed expedient by the Profession so to do, at their then market value.

Four-fifths of the profits of the Insurance branch of the Office will be divided triennially among the Assured, in the form of bonuses, as customary with other offices.

The REMAINDER OF THE PROFITS, subject to a deduction of ten per cent. (to be applied to the Widows' Fund), will BE DIVIDED AN-

NNUALLY AMONG THE SOLICITORS BY WHOM THE BUSINESS HAS BEEN TRANSACTED, in ratesable proportion to the sum paid by each during the year for which such profits are calculated; or, at the option of the party, policies may be taken in lieu of such share of the profits.

This share of the profits to be in addition to the usual commission, which will be allowed on all transactions.

It is further proposed to secure for the Profession an advantage it has long wanted; namely, to connect with the establishment a Widows' and Orphans' Fund, or Nominee Society, by which Solicitors may secure Annuities for their families in case of death. It is to the increase of this Fund that the deduction of ten per cent. from the profits to be divided among the Shareholders and Solicitors is to be applied.

The Scale of Premiums will be the same as that adopted by the safe and respectable offices.

The Solicitors' Office will avail itself of all the arrangements which, in other offices, have been found to offer conveniences to the assured.

It will make Loans on Deposit of Policies.

It will grant Annuities.

It will purchase Reversions and Policies of Insurance.

It will insure specially on Special Risks.

It will grant Endowments for Children.

It will meet the difficulties so often experienced by insurers, in consequence of the necessity for fixed Annual Payments required under all circumstances, or forfeiture of the Policy, by a plan that permits the Premium to be varied according to the necessities of the assured; and by which, even if the payment should cease, the policy would not be forfeited, but the value of that actually paid would be secured to his family.

The Profits of an Insurance Office being wholly dependent upon the amount of business, it is obvious that if the Solicitors of the United Kingdom will avail themselves of their own Office for the purpose of securing to themselves the large profits they now take to others, the business of their Office must speedily exceed that of all other offices in the kingdom; and the profits will, consequently, be so great, that the division of them between the Assured and the Solicitors in the manner proposed will secure to both advantages such as could be offered nowhere besides.

It may be added, in conclusion, that this plan has been long in preparation. It has been already submitted to the Profession and received their warm approval. The Shareholders incur no risk, for interest will be allowed upon their advances from the date of payment; and the arrangements of the Office, and the names of the Directors and Officers, will, it is believed, be such as to guarantee the utmost respectability and the most prudent management.

As it will be desirable that as many shares as possible should be taken by the Solicitors, preference will be shewn to them in the allotment; and, in order to extend the allotments over as many applicants as possible, no more than fifty shares will be allotted to any one person.

Applications for Shares to be made in the usual form, with address and references, to Messrs. GALSWORTHY, and GALSWORTHY, 19, Ely-place, Solicitors to the Company.

A Liberal Commission allowed to Solicitors.

THE LATE THOMAS CAMPBELL, THE POET.—Mr. Park, the sculptor, is at present engaged on a work which is likely to add to his already well-earned reputation—namely, a colossal statue of Campbell, the poet, which is intended to be erected in George-square, or some other conspicuous situation in Glasgow. Mr. Park has already completed the model of the head of the poet, which we had the pleasure of viewing the other day at his studio in Bruton-street, Berkeley-square, and we could not help being struck with the high character of its style, its noble and intellectual expression, and the beauty of its execution. The figure, we understand, is not to be clothed in the unpicturesque costume of the present day; but, like some of the antique statues, will only have the form partially concealed by loose flowing drapery. Judging from what we have formerly seen of Mr. Park's sculptural productions, we indulge the highest expectations of the result of his present attempt. For this undertaking he certainly possesses peculiar advantages. Campbell sat to him for his bust about four years before his death, and the likeness is pronounced to be as faithful as it is full of character. The poet was a native of Glasgow, and the proposal to erect a monument of him there is no more than might have been expected to originate from the intelligence and spirit of its citizens. It will be a graceful tribute to his memory, at the same time that it will be an appropriate ornament to the city itself. Among the names of the contributors to this important work many of those of the late lord rectors of the university are included; and we observe that Sir R. Peel, Sir James Graham, Lord Jeffrey, and Mr. Fox Maule have enrolled their names, as well as the Duke of Montrose and the Marquis of Breadalbane. It is proposed that the statue shall be of bronze, mounted on a plain granite pedestal, and of the size of that of Sir J. Moore, now erected in George-square, Glasgow.

The object of this Company is to supply (at a quarter of the cost of stable or farm-yard manure) the sewage water of the metropolis to the surrounding country as manure, by mechanical means, similar to those employed by the water companies.

A careful and moderate calculation has been made of the annual outlay and income, from which it can confidently be stated that the undertaking will realize a net profit of at least 15 per cent.

No allotment of shares will be made until after the 30th of November, when the plans will have been deposited and the notices of the application to Parliament will be given.

The Act of Incorporation will limit the responsibility of the shareholders to the amount of their shares.

Applications for shares to be made in the usual form, addressed to the Provisional Committee of the Metropolitan Sewage Manur Company, and also for prospectuses and pamphlets, containing full particulars, at Messrs. Bailey, Shaw, and Smith's, 5, Berners-street.

NEW MORNING NEWSPAPER. (Registered Provisionally.)

Capital 400,000*l.* in 40,000 Shares of 10*l.* each. Deposit (as fixed by the Act of Parliament) 1*l.* per Share.

A general desire has long been expressed among all classes for the establishment of a Morning Newspaper, which should rival in all its departments the greatest of its competitors. But the impossibility of finding any one individual wealthy enough to advance the necessary capital for such an enterprise has hitherto prevented the accomplishment of an object universally admitted to be desirable, and allowed to be certainly profitable.

Arrangements are now being made for the formation of a Company for the purpose of establishing a thoroughly honest and independent daily morning newspaper, which in every department shall be as complete as skill and capital can make it. To the commercial affairs of the country, its railroads and public works, it will pay special attention, and it is designed that no expense shall be spared to make it in all respects the Leading Journal of Europe.

The great profits of such an enterprise, if successful, are too well known to need description.

The title of this newspaper to be "THE MORNING MAIL."

Its principles to be strictly constitutional, but keeping pace with the spirit of the age; at the same time to be entirely independent of party.

That there is ample field for another great Morning Journal will be evident from these facts: That though readers have multiplied tenfold, there are no more morning papers now, than twenty years ago. That the advertisements so crowd the existing papers that they are obliged to resort to the inconvenient practice of supplements to contain them, and that the day mails have everywhere substituted the morning for the evening papers.

The shares are fixed at so small a sum as 10*l.* in order to interest as many persons as possible in the prosperity of their journal, and to secure its more certain independence of all party or personal interests. It is calculated that not more than 5*l.* per share will ultimately be called for, and the calls after the first will be made in sums not exceeding 1*l.* per share, and at intervals of not less than three months.

The shares will be allotted in the order in which the applications are received; but a preference will be given to Auctioneers, Solicitors, Directors of Companies, Booksellers, Hotel-keepers, and other large Advertisers.

In order that there may be the widest choice of Directors, the list will not be made up until the applications for shares are received. But in the mean while as a guarantee to the public that it is a substantial and respectable enterprise, it may be stated that the scheme was suggested and is conducted by the Proprietors and Editors of THE CRITIC, whose character is pledged to see the enterprise properly conducted to the point when the formation of the Company will place it in the hands of the Shareholders, and under the protection of the Act of Parliament which provides so ample for their security.

The deposit of one shilling per share, prescribed by the statute, being so trifling, it is presumed that those who really feel an interest in the success of the enterprise will not object to the advance of this sum for the purpose of meeting the necessary preliminary expenses. It is therefore requested that every application for shares may be accompanied with payment of the deposit of one shilling per share, which may be forwarded, if in sums of less than ten shillings, in penny postage stamps; if in larger sums, by Post-office order, made payable to Mr. CROCKFORD, the Publisher of THE CRITIC. And the Proprietor and Editors of THE CRITIC pledge themselves to the Shareholders that all the deposits so transmitted shall be strictly accounted for, and that a debtor and creditor account of the sums received and paid shall be published in THE CRITIC from time to time as the work proceeds.

As it is desirable to ascertain as speedily as possible what encouragement the proposition is likely to receive, persons purposing to take shares are requested to forward applications, in the following form, to THE CRITIC Office, 29, Essex-street, Strand, London.

FORM OF APPLICATION FOR SHARES.

To the Directors of the Morning Mail Newspaper.

Gentlemen,—I request you to allot me shares in The Morning Mail Newspaper, and I undertake to accept the same, or any less number you may appropriate to me, and to pay the deposit, and sign the necessary legal documents when required; and I hereby transmit^{*} the sum of being the deposit of 1*l.* per share, as prescribed by the Act of Parliament, to be applied towards the preliminary expenses.

Dated this day of 1845.
